Caught on the Wing

"THE MAN ABOUT TOWN
—AND—
Sent Flying Through THE CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 18, 1883.—"There ten calves," said Mr. Wade, the famous Jersey breeder, "and went out with a trader the other day to buy a stallion team. "The main charm of these horses," the owner explained, "is their perfect gentleness. An eight-year-old child can drive them."

The horses went pretty well until they turned a corner and came upon the gnat and wagon of the man who wants a nickel because he can't walk. At this unexpected sight the horses reared, plunged, kicked, snorted, and almost shaved their harness. When they were quieted there was dead silence for a moment. Then the horse man, with the air of one who knows it is no use to talk, said "I'll tell you what it is, major—that d—g has busted up more horse teams in this town than everything else put together."

Let me write down a piece of gossip set afoot at the last meeting of the legislature. The next race for governor will be run by McDaniel, Boynton and Bacon, with such additional as may be made by the friends of local candidates. I have not believed that the old race would be run again, but the weight of inquiry and opinion seems to be that way.

It is my opinion, also, that Governor Smith will be in the next senatorial race. Will Senator Brown want a re-election? I don't know. I think it depends entirely on his health.

Senator Colquitt, who has lately returned from the north, reports an almost universal opinion that the democrats will elect the next president. The current, he says, has set toward no special candidate, and nothing seems accepted generally except that Tilden could carry New York beyond peradventure. The decadence of Governor Cleveland in present estimation is no less marked than obvious, and he makes with Pattison, of Pennsylvania, a double example of the extreme enthusiasm that waits upon "tidal wave governors."

The drain on Georgia for cattle for other sections has been large this year. Several thousands have been shipped to Texas a new field of demand, as Georgia is concerned, and Mr. Dick Stapler, of Valdosta, has just closed an order for 1,000 Georgia cattle for the Cuban market. He will begin collecting them in Worth county in a week or two, and drive through the country increasing his herd until he gets his full number. He is to deliver at any point south of the sunbaked river. The price per head is $100.

The figures quoted to me above seem enormous, and yet the demand at those prices far exceeds the supply. A good Jersey is a gold mine, as the breeders' records show. Said Mr. Wade, for example, to a party of gentlemen, "There is a cow, Dorcas Fay, that I bought six years ago for $500. She has given me five calves—two bulls and three heifers—that I sold for $1,000. Besides she has given me, above the cost of keeping her, 1,200 pounds of butter that I sold for $100. She will give me another calf before November, that I could sell before it is born for $400, and that I would not sell for $500. If I took $400 for it, she would close the sixth year having given me $1,475 in calves and $100 in butter, above the cost of keeping her. That is $1,955 in cash profit to her, and I would sell for $1,000, I would have in cash from the cow $2,955. Deduct the $300 I paid for her, and the net profit is $2,655 in six years. There are other cows in my herd that have as good a record."

I asked Mr. Wade what was the profit to an amateur in buying a Jersey to replace an ordinary cow. "With a Jersey," said he, "that you pay $500 for you can count on getting 400 pounds of butter and a calf each year. The butter you can sell at 40 to 50 cents a pound, as readily as you can sell gold at its value, and the butter milk at 15 cents a gallon will pay the cow's keeping. The calf will command from $150 to $300 the day it is born. A common cow that costs just as much to feed as a Jersey, will not move average 90 pounds of butter, worth 25 cents a pound, and a calf worth from $4 to $6. That's the difference."

Mr. Wade breeds with great discretion, and has just crossed two strains that promise well. His cow, Tenella, has the best record for her size in the world, having made 22 pounds and three ounces of butter in one week, when four years old. The best butter record of any age was made by the Jersey Belle of Seville, which was 25 pounds and two ounces. Mr. Wade has just bred a son of the Jersey Belle to a niece of Tenella's. "I would not take now," he said, "a thousand dollars for that calf, though it is not due till September."

Speaking of cows, Evan Howell had an old-fashioned one that went through the war with him. Led behind one of the caissons of his battery she was in nearly every important battle of the army of Tennessee—and, to her credit it is said, no matter how thunderous the roar of battle, nor how sultry the air, her milk never curdled or ceased its gentle flow. At night around the camp-fire she would yield as sweet a pailful of milk as was ever distilled from clover in time of profound peace. She surrendered with her battery at Macon, walked home with her master, and lived and died in honorable retirement. Her granddaughter is now queen of a West End clover patch, and looks at visitors as if she would say: "My grandma fit in the war."

A short time ago a few ladies of Trinity church, in this city, met to organize a "Home Ministry" object. The providing of work for women who wanted work, and finding sale for the articles they made. The need of such a mission was pressing. The large manufacturers had started by offering 75 cents a dozen for making shirts. More women applied for work than could be supplied, and under this pressure the price was forced down to 25 cents a dozen. Women who sewed merely to supplement the earnings of their husbands, or sons, or fathers could afford to work at this price. To women wholly dependent on their own labor, it meant absolute starvation.

At the first meeting the ladies bought cloth cut out numberless garments, and awaited the call of the women. The meeting was about ready to adjourn in discouragement, when two or three women came in and asked for work. The garments they made were sold for the cost of the cloth with a reasonable sum added for the women's work. No profits were charged. Besides assisting the women who wanted them. The plan worked and women who wanted them. The plan worked and many people to building.

The trotting race on the Boulevard during the week demonstrated the need of a gentleman's driving park, and showed up sufficient material to sustain one. That race would have yielded $600 in gate money; and no city in the state could show a finer array of horses than lined the Boulevard that afternoon. Steps have already been taken to organize a Driving Park club, which will doubtless result in what is needed.

CHICAGO has been enjoying a queer triumph. One of her eminent citizens, named Dunne, was on trial for the murder of the slugger Elliott. The acquittal of the Chicago champion was the signal for a champagne and cake, on which occasion the acquitted man-slayer represented the familiarity of a lower order associate by knocking him down.

THE SAVANNAH CADETS, who will pass through Atlanta to-day on their way to the Nashville drill, is a company with a proud history. At the state fair in Macon a few years ago they carried off the first prize, and were pronounced by General Gordon to be far superior in drill to the Cadets at the West Point military academy. In this contest they go, not so much as Savannah representatives, but to represent Georgia, the Cadets being the only Georgia company to respond to Tennessee's call. Their commander, Captain Branch, is not only one of the best of tacticians and disciplinarians, but served gallantly with the Cadets in the campaigns around Atlanta and followed Johnston to the day of the surrender. His brother, Adjutant Branch, of the Eighth Georgia, fell with Tarot at Manassas.

THE GEORGIA PACIFIC. This new road is fast becoming one of the most popular roads centering in Atlanta. So quiet have the managers been that we can scarcely realize that they have built and equipped in splendid style one hundred and twenty-three miles pointing directly to the best coal fields in America and that before another winter we can get coal almost as cheap as it could be mined at Kennesaw mountain. In another column we give the details of a recent excursion over this new line.

We regret we have not space enough to say more about the trip. The Constitution can endorse fully what Colonel Adair says of the officers of this road.

Vice-President Johnson has been very vigilant and active in the interest of his company, and we are satisfied no one could have filled his place better. Major Temple, the chief engineer, is one of the most skillful engineers in the railroad business. He has demonstrated that his work could not have been improved. Colonel Foreacre is so well known as a railroad manager in our state that all will agree with Colonel Adair in praise of his skill and knowledge of railroading. He has been engaged almost exclusively since the war in rebuilding and re-establishing railroads in Georgia, Alabama and Virginia, and he has never failed to make them popular, paying roads; because he attends to his business closely and knows just what it takes to make a good railroad. The stockholders of this corporation are indebted to these gentlemen for a grand road so far, and we can assure them that it will be one of the best paying roads in the near future in the south.

OUR MERCHANTS SHOULD ORGANIZE. We cannot understand why any merchant should decline to join the movement now on foot for the further and better organization of the commercial interest of the city. No merchant whose trade is worth having, can weigh the $50 fee that is required against the benefits that he can reap from the organized assistance of his fellow merchants if his rights should be threatened or discriminated against him. It cannot be, that any merchant is so ungenerous as to count on the organization being effected without his aid and its protection extended him because it cannot round him. We take it for granted, therefore, that these few who have declined to join the new movement, have done so without thinking the matter over and will reconsider their refusal.

It cannot be denied that the railroads are just now discriminating against Atlanta to an extent that will bring about a contest, if it is persisted in. The discrimination has as yet affected only a few branches of business. If not corrected, however, it will very soon bear equally on all. The railroads have the most perfect organization. The merchants have none. If one railroad should try to go into the "pool," the rest would beakened. So every merchant who declines to stand by his brother merchants in the struggle that is threatened, weakens their common cause. With the wholesale merchants of this city standing shoulder to shoulder—with every man in ranks—with one voice, the voice of all, our commercial system will be safe from all assault, and its integrity guaranteed.

And we hope and believe that when the matter is properly presented, it will be found there is no merchant who will decline to lend his moral support of his protest against injustice, or his resistance to wrong. With one hundred wholesale merchants banded together for the protection of Atlanta's commercial interests, and the extension of her dominion, we should feel better satisfied of her future growth and expansion than if ten thousand people were instantly added to her population. If the attempt to get this number together should fail, we should be correspondingly disheartened.

THE KENTUCKY NOMINATIONS.

The race between ex Congressman Knott and Colonel Jones of Newport, for the democratic gubernatorial nomination in Kentucky was one of the closest the state has ever known. As one aspirant after another was withdrawn, the excitement among the nearly 600 members of the convention was increased, and when Knott and Jones were alone in the field, it became intense.

"You are well?" persisted the inebriated citizen. "Shut up and get out!" exclaimed the saloon-keeper.

"I f I shut up, 'n then 'f you shut up, it'll be mighty lonesome 'roun' here."

"Come!" said the saloon-keeper indignantly, "I want you to get out of my bar-room."

"N' yea?" said the six citizen, "n' I want to git your old bar-room outer me!"

OF INTEREST TO TRUCK FARMERS.

We print this morning under the head of "Truck and Trimmers," a batch of reports by wire and mail that will be of interest to all engaged in that industry. Our plan, which is rather suggested than developed, this morning comes from three points.

1. Daily telegraphic advices from the principal markets. These daily telegrams will come from firms that we have selected, on the advice of leading truck growers, as perfectly reliable and trustworthy. They embrace such names as Proctor Knott. The nomination is virtually an election, and Mr. Knott will soon become the executive head of the state for a term of four years. Kentucky could not have selected a man of wider experience, profounder knowledge of the law, or of greater popularity throughout the state. He will prove a safe and practical yet progressive governor.

There is a peculiar feature of politics in Kentucky that is not generally understood.

The state is full of both confederate and union soldiers—holding about as many of one class as of the other. The union men are not inclined to support confederate soldiers and vice versa.

This state of things rather militates against the nomination of soldiers.

Mr. Knott was in neither army. The nominee for lieutenant governor was, however, in the union army. The war issue assumes the forms that are not infrequently encountered in the mountain counties of the two upper congressional districts of this state.

The platform is brief and excellent. The tariff is not expressly mentioned, but the reaffirmation of the national platforms of 1876 and 1880 is, of course, a declaration in favor of tariff reduction in the interest of the taxpayers.

The duty of the state to provide a wise and efficient system of public schools is set forth, and so are the needs of equality in assessments, of a new constitution, and of an influx of capital and immigration.

2. Daily reports of shipments of truck from the principal points in Georgia, with the destination of each package, and the general movements of truck as far as possible. Our force of correspondents for this work is especially well organized.

3. Items of interest from orchards, farms or patches, suggestions from growers, reports of sales, and all other points that may be suggested.

In short we propose to make THE CONSTITUTION in its daily or weekly edition, simply indispensable to every truck grower in the state, and, in fact, to every man who has intelligent interest in the development of Georgia. Both editions of the Evening News published an extract from the interview, consisting of the paragraph where the judge speaks of hangings, filling jails, no rents, rights of landowners, sowing dragons teeth, etc., and I replied to it at the time. I will thank you to publish the reply which I inclose. I had seen the full interview I would have said more, but after all I think that here in Georgia, where the judge is best known, a dilatation against the Irish will not be much appreciated. The people of Ireland, Lorraine's highest honor was bestowed on him as a reward for deserting the south in her hour of bit or trial, and they also remember his efforts in attempting to conciliate with other schemes to force Georgia. Grant upon the country for a third term, in violation of the traditional and best sentiment of the people of the United States.

3. Daily reports of the movements of truck from the principal points in Georgia as he is to them, then those of Irish birth who are trying to encourage and support their brethren at home in one of the most memorable struggles against wrong and oppression in the history of the world. They need not care very much what opinion he pronounces. By kindly publishing this note as an addition to my reply you will confer a great favor on me.

COTUITTA FARMING.
By Mr. Woodward Adds His Stock of Knowledge About How to Farm—The Jersey Cow.

From the Dalton, Ga., Citizen.

COTUITTA, Ga., May 2, 1883.—Editor Citizen:—In endeavoring to write the article you ask for I would introduce myself by announcing that I am not accustomed to writing down my ideas, and that no desire to get into print nor expectation of doing anything but personal encouragement. A farmer acquire the habit of frankness, therefore, of his own experience. I do not think me egotistic. My experience is limited, but the little I have gives me great hope. In ten years or sooner good farming lands, within reasonable access of railroads, will be scarce here at $25 per acre. If we don't improve our lands and make farming profitable others will come and buy them of us. We live between the extremes of heat and cold. Our average yearly temperature is 60 degrees. With us the various grains, grasses and herbs, etc., flourish. I will say nothing against any particular crop or product. I presumed each farmer devotes his energies to the thing to him most profitable. But progress is the watchword, and must use their best efforts. We must till our soil by machinery, have less but better labor and pay good hands higher wages, improve our live stock, make manure in houses, terraced or on our hill sides, put only honest men in office, vote a road tax and keep our roads in order by letting them out by contract, pass a no-fence law that will not interfere with adjoining counties and build boundary fence needed, and make landlords furnish pasture to tenants and hire help, devote ample opportunities to public schools and examine critically all teachers.

My principal experience has been with reclaiming worn, washed lands, raising calves, fattening on buttermilk (P. B. S.) purchased of Billy Chambers (Rube Pack and Field Wilson).

If one has plenty of manure, the plan is to plow and subsoil, then to a fine seed bed, sow rye and orchard grass, cover them with hay and top dress with the manure. Or if a crop plan is desired, pen on poor places, all the live stock, both for exercise on winter days and rest on summer nights. Carry to these poor places all waste vegetable matter, weeds from ditch banks, briars from fence corners and old stakes. When the surface is covered with verdure, and the soil filled with millions of grass roots, your highest hill tops are safe. Breed only the best live stock you are able to own or get use of. If you want a fast horse, a fast horse, a big pig, a beef cow or a dairy cow, couple parents from whom you can expect the desired type. When ever you trust to such matters, it is bad luck, for if the parents sput in breeding the likelihood is they produce a scrub. But no matter what you breed, the young need attention. The feeding should be ample to sustain life and make bone and muscle. A calf should never lose its calf flesh, but be kept growing. If intended for beef or as a stock animal from which to breed beef cattle, the teats to lay fat, but if for the dairy, strive to keep all grain, save perhaps some wheat straw, away from it.

I think our section especially adapted to dairying, and there is no chance for the demand for a good article to be supplied during the present generation's existence. Let us buy a good cow will produce yearly 300 pounds of butter, make buttermilk enough to fatten a pig, give you a calf and pay you for your attention to manure.

Suppose it a  $\frac{1}{2}$  Jersey costing \$50.00. Interest at 5% per cent would be \$3.50. Hay 5 months, 100 lbs. daily, 22.50. Corn meal 5 months, 2 qts. daily, 22.50. at 50c per bushel, and wheat 100 lbs. 2 qts. daily, 22.50. 75 lbs. butter at 30c. 12.75.

Call cow worth at end of year, $45.00. Cost (2d Jersey) worth, 10.00. Buttermilk to pig worth, 9.00. 200 lbs. butter at 30c. 60.00.

$88.79 $155.00. Balance, being net profit, 66.21. $155.00 $55.00.

To strengthen the only doubtful points, I will say that I own a Jersey cow, six years old, who made in one day last week, on not as good food as above, two pounds and three ounces firm, fine butter; and for a long time I have sold my entire dairy product at the price used in this estimate. The three-fourths ready to drink milk is worth $50 to $75, therefore the same as a calf would be worth say $10 to $25. Our natives, if well cared for and kept near a hill, will breed very nearly as early as Jerseys, and they will be near enough maturity to perform the maternal duties with safety to themselves, the earlier they are brought into milking the better. Breed them at any time after one year old.

To give one an idea of the increase in live stock, I will give an instance of the family of my cow Woe Woe, No. 833 in A. J. C. C. H. R. She was dropped 13th August, 1877, and before I purchased, in May 1880, she dropped a cow calf. She dropped Silky Woe Woe August 21st, 1880; Chester's bull July 28th, 1881; and little Coquette June 23d, 1882; and will be fresh again by the 9th inst. Of course her first heifer must have produced several calves. Silky Woe Woe dropped Ford's bull April 19th, 1882, and another bull March 13th, 1883. I will say, if no accident happens Woe Woe, Silky Woe and little Coquette will be fresh in milk again.

There are instances where Jersey cows have remained profitable in every way to their twentieth year; but I expect 15 years is a fair limit for their usefulness. I have no doubt other kinds of live stock will give as good returns, but I have not had experience with them worth mentioning.

I have had some experience with sheep, and will be able to show some  $\frac{1}{2}$  south down lambs that will draw 75 to 100 pounds by June 1st. Very truly, B. WOODWARD.

"REX MAGNUS"

(THE MIGHTY KING)

THE HUMISION

FOOD PRESERVATIVE

Perfect in Work,
Safe and Harmless,
Economical.
DOES ALL THAT IS CLAIMED.

Rex Magnus is a perfect food preservative, and is only one discovered by man, which embodies at the same time healthfulness, cheapness, certainty of results, and general adaptability for the wants of all mankind. This preservative is, its name signifies, a mighty king, a royal preservative, an invincible conqueror.

THE DISCOVERER—A BENEFICIARY.

This field has long demanded a combination and uniting, blending and highly harmonizing of elements, agencies and forces which has been heretofore unobtained. Men have sought for it, in all ages and in all countries—and they have uniformly failed. Professor R. F. Humiston was somewhat like Morse, Franklin, Fulton and others in their respective fields, the man and the one, who was destined to wear the proud title of discoverer of this preparation and of a benefactor of his race.

35 DAYS TEST.

REX MAGNUS has kept twenty-three kinds of Meats and other Food thirty-five days in a warm room, average 70°, and here is the testimony of the eminent scientific gentleman who had exclusive control of the experiment in his private laboratory, viz: PROF. SAMUEL W. JOHNSON, OF YALE COLLEGE.

The Professor's report, dated March 7, 1883, says:

"My tests of 35 days, etc., show that the market has certainly been saved in daily meat temperature of 70 degrees, and I am satisfied that the different breeds of Rex Magnus. The Humiston Preservative, which have been implemented, have accomplished all claim for them. So far as I have yet learned, they are the only preparations that are affective, and at the same time practicable for domestic use. At the same time I have been in touch with the New Haven Hospital, and I distinguish between those which had been six days in my laboratory and those newly taken from the market. The oysters were perfectly preserved as fresh to my taste. I think it happened, than those served at the same time, which were recently taken from the shell. The roast beef, steak, chicken, turkey and quail, were as good as any I have ever had."

Rex Magnus is safe, tasteless, pure, and Professor Johnson adds in his report, "I should anticipate no ill results from its use, and consider it less harmful than common salt."

Thousands of equally conclusive experiments in all parts of the country have brought the same good results.

TIME IS CONQUERED.

It is an unquestioned fact that all flesh food is improved by keeping, and as "Rex Magnus" will do this it once becomes an important factor in every family, restaurant, hotel and market.

CREAM KEPT FIFTY-nine DAYS.

No fear of muggy days or bad weather after this. It is equally good in any climate. Cream has been put up in Boston and eaten in Italy forty-two days after and in Switzerland fifty-nine days after in perfect condition, it works equally well with all kinds of food.

A TRIAL WILL PROVE IT.

In these days of bombastic essays, some persons may call in question the statements made in reference to "Rex Magnus," and the wonderful results and benefits accomplished by its use. Our answer to such persons is this, viz: It will do all that is claimed for it, and a trial will prove this statement.

HOW TO GET IT.

A trifling expenditure on your part will establish this fact to your entire satisfaction. You do no have to buy a country right, nor a costly recipe; we sell neither the one nor the other.

SAMPLES MAILED POSTPAID.

We do offer, however, to supply you—in case your grocer, druggist, or general storekeeper hasn't it on hand—with any brand of "Rex Magnus" which you may desire, upon receipt of the price we will prepay postage charges on sample packages. The several brands and their respective uses and functions are herewith mentioned as a guide to readers: It will not do to use for anything else than designated, as long experience proves it to be necessary for different combinations.

BRANDS AND PRICES.

"Viande" for preserving meats, fish and game, $1.00 per bottle.

"Ocean Wave" for preserving oysters, cans, lobsters, etc., 50 cents per pound.

"Pearl" for preserving cream, $1 per pound.

"Snow Flake" for preserving milk, cheese and butter, 50 cents per pound.

"Queen" for preserving eggs, green corn on the ear, etc., 50 cents per pound.

"Aqua-Vite" for preserving fluid extracts, without "Anti-Ferment," "Anti-Fly" and "Anti-Mold," are explained by their names. 50 cents per pound.

IMPROVED FOOD.

Every article of food treated by "Rex Magnus" remains perfectly sweet, natural in flavor, ripens and indeed is enhanced in value by the effects of this kind of preservative agents.

IT IS TASTLESS AND HARMLESS.

Banques in New Haven, Ct., Boston, Mass., and Chicago, Ill., have been held, at which food treated and saved as Professor Johnson treated his 23 articles of food, were served. These public demonstrations of the wonderful effects of this preparation were uniformly applauded by the invited and attending guests—and they came from every branch and walk of domestic and private life, and embraced men of national and international fame.

IMPROVED APPAREL.

The press of the country applaud the results; the people at large, both in this and every other country, need "Rex Magnus," and, better still, it is within the reach of everyone as to price.

Fresh food, in all seasons and climates, has heretofore been a luxury for the wealthy alone. Now everyone may enjoy it by using "Rex Magnus." Send for a package and test it yourself. In writing for it give your name, state, county and mention the brand desired. Send money order or by registered letter. Physicians who will agree to test it can receive sample package free. Please state school of practice. Circular of testimonials sent when requested. Address, The Rawley Springs, Atlanta, Georgia.
